DETAILED ACTION

1. Applicant's Amendment filed on 9/05/2006 has been entered with amended claims 1-4 and newly added claims 5-14. In this Office Action, claims 1-14 are pending.

Response to Amendment

2. The declaration filed on 9/5/2006 under 37 CFR 1.131 has been considered but is ineffective to overcome the Allam (USPA Pub. 2004/0139400) reference because of the following reasons:

- The proposed reply filed on 9/5/2006 has not been entered because it is unsigned.
- The declaration does not contain the invention disclosure statement correlating to the claims.
- The declaration does not contain explanation of the contents of the invention disclosure document.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 1-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Allam et al. (USPA Pub. 2004/0139400 A1) hereinafter Allam, and in view of Pruett et al. (US Patent 5,778,389) hereinafter Pruett.

5. As per independent claim 1, Allam teaches a system and method for displaying and viewing electronic information (page 2, paragraph [0034]). Allam teaches the claimed, when a file stored in a first folder is selected to be stored into a second folder, comparing a filename of the selected file with a filename of each file already stored in the second folder, as the computer world where files are stored in electronic file folders and either moved or copied between them (page 10, paragraph [0098]). Allam does not explicitly teach checking whether the same name exists on the second folder. However, Pruett teaches the claimed, if the second folder contains no file having a filename same as the selected file, storing the selected file into the second folder (Fig. 2B, col. 6, lines 42-44). Pruett teaches the claimed, if the second folder contains a file having a filename same as the selected file (Fig. 2B, col. 6, lines 44-48). Thus, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the data processing art at the time of the invention, to have combined the teachings of the cited references because Pruett's teachings would have allowed Allam's method to provide an automatic synchronization of directories in order to eliminate inefficient and time-consuming method by using standard operating system commands (col. 1, lines 56-58). Finally, Allam teaches the claimed, to display thumbnail images and file information of the selected file and the file having the same filename together on a display device (Fig. 3, page 4, paragraph [0047]).

6. As per dependent claim 2, Allam teaches the claimed, if at least one of the selected file and the file having the same filename comprises a movie file, displaying a first frame of the movie as the thumbnail image thereof on the display device, and to playing back the movie upon operation to the thumbnail image (Fig. 7, page 4, paragraph [0052]).

7. As per dependent claim 3, Allan teaches the claimed, if at least one of the selected file and the file having the same filename comprises an audio file, displaying an icon image as the thumbnail image thereof on the display device, the icon image indicating that the file is audio, and to playing back the audio upon operation to the icon image (Fig. 7, page 4, paragraph [0052]).

8. As per independent claim 4, Allam teaches a system and method for displaying and viewing electronic information (page 2, paragraph [0034]). Allam teaches the claimed, when an audio file stored in a first folder is selected to be stored into a second folder, comparing a filename of the selected file with a filename of each file already stored in the second folder, as the computer world where files are stored in electronic file folders and either moved or copied between them (page 10, paragraph [0098]).

Allam teaches the claimed, to attach a filename to the selected file and store the selected file into the second folder (Fig. 7, page 4, paragraph [0052]). Allam teaches the claimed, Allam teaches the claimed, displaying an icon image on a display device, the icon image indicating that the file is audio, for the selected file and an audio file stored in the second folder (Fig. 7, page 4, paragraph [0052]). Allam teaches the claimed "to play back the audio upon operation to the icon image" (Fig. 7, page 4, paragraph [0052]).

9. As per independent claims 5, 8, Allam teaches a system and method for displaying and viewing electronic information (page 2, paragraph [0034]). Allam teaches the claimed, comparing a filename of at least one of an image file, a movie file, and an audio file which is stored in a first folder, and which is selected to be stored into a second folder, with a filename of each file already stored in the second folder, as the computer world where files are stored in electronic file folders and either moved or copied between them (page 10, paragraph [0098]). Allam does not explicitly teach checking whether the same name exists on the second folder. However, Pruett teaches the claimed, storing the selected file into the second folder when the second folder contains no file having a filename which is same as the selected file Pruett teaches the claimed, if the second folder contains a file having a filename same as the selected file (Fig. 2B, col. 6, lines 42-44). Thus, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the data processing art at the time of the invention, to have combined the teachings of the cited references because Pruett's teachings would have allowed Allam's method to provide an automatic synchronization of directories in order to eliminate inefficient and time-consuming method by using standard operating system commands (col. 1, lines 56-58). Allam does not explicitly teach checking whether the same name exists on the second folder. However, Pruett teaches the claimed, if the second folder contains no file having a filename same as the selected file, storing the selected file into the second folder (Fig. 2B, col. 6, lines 42-44). Pruett teaches the claimed, if the second folder contains a file having a filename same as the selected file (Fig. 2B, col. 6, lines 44-48). Thus, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the data processing art at the time of the invention, to have combined the teachings of the cited references because Pruett's teachings would have allowed Allam's method to provide an automatic synchronization of directories in order to eliminate inefficient and time-consuming method by using standard operating system commands (col. 1, lines 56-58). Finally, Allam teaches the claimed, displaying, when the second folder contains a file having a filename that is the same as the selected file, a thumbnail image and file information of the selected file together with a thumbnail image and file information of the file having the same filename on a display (Fig. 3, page 4, paragraph [0047]).

10. As per dependent claims 6, 11, Allam teaches the claimed, if at least one of the selected file and the file having the same filename comprises a movie file, said method further comprising: displaying a first frame of a movie included in said movie file as the thumbnail image thereof on the display device (Fig. 7, page 4, paragraph [0052]).

11. As per dependent claims 7, 12, Allam teaches the claimed, playing back the movie upon operation to the thumbnail image (Fig. 7, page 4, paragraph [0052]).

12. As per dependent claims 8, 13, Allam teaches the claimed, if at least one of the selected file and the file having the same filename comprises an audio file, said method further comprising: displaying an icon image as the thumbnail image thereof on the display device, wherein the icon image indicates that the file comprises audio (Fig. 7, page 4, paragraph [0052]).

13. As per dependent claims 9, 14, Allam teaches the claimed, playing back the audio upon operation to the icon image (Fig. 7, page 4, paragraph [0052]).
